

Role Behavior Analysis™

Determine how a role or function can be performed most effectively with this role behavior evaluation instrument. The Role Behavior Analysis (RBA) provides a practical process for defining behavioral expectations for specific roles, for comparing an individual's DiSC® behavior to the behavioral expectations of his or her current or potential role, and for developing strategies to meet role expectations. It's ideal for supervisory and management coaching, performance review support, team building, and personal development.

The 12-page paper instrument can be used as a standalone learning instrument or in conjunction with other DiSC training and coaching.
